International application No.

PCT/EP2003/002489

III. Non-establishment of opinion with regard to novelty, inventive step and industrial applicability

1. The questions whether the claimed invention appears to be novel, to involve an inventive step (to be non obvious), or to be industrially applicable have not been examined in respect of:

☐ the entire international application.

☒ claims Nos. 19, 20

because:

☒ the said international application, or the said claims Nos. 19, 20 relate to the following subject matter which does not require an international preliminary examination (specify):

See supplemental box

☐ the description, claims or drawings (indicate particular elements below) or said claims Nos. are so unclear that no meaningful opinion could be formed (specify):

☐ the claims, or said claims Nos. are so inadequately supported by the description that no meaningful opinion could be formed.

☐ no international search report has been established for said claims Nos.

2. A meaningful international preliminary examination cannot be carried out due to the failure of the nucleotide and/or amino acid sequence listing to comply with the standard provided for in Annex C of the Administrative Instructions:

☐ the written form has not been furnished or does not comply with the standard.

☐ the computer readable form has not been furnished or does not comply with the standard.

Supplemental Box

(To be used when the space in any of the preceding boxes is not sufficient)

Continuation of: III.1

Non-establishment of opinion with regard to novelty, inventive step and industrial applicability

Claims 19 and 20 relate to subject matter which this Authority considers to fall under PCT Rule 67.1(iv). Consequently, no opinion is established with regard to the industrial applicability of the subject matter of these claims (PCT Article 34(4)(a)(i)).

V. Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

1. Statement

Novelty (N)	Claims	11-13	YES
	Claims	1-10, 14-20	NO
Inventive step (IS)	Claims	11-13	YES
	Claims	1-10, 14-20	NO
Industrial applicability (IA)	Claims	1-18	YES
	Claims		NO

2. Citations and explanations

Reference is made to the following document:

D1: DE-A-100 29 014.

Novelty

Document D1 is considered to be the closest prior art for the subject matter of claims 1 to 20. D1 discloses urokinase inhibitors wherein the group corresponding to R_3 represents, inter alia, H or a sulfonyl radical $-SO_2-R$, wherein R can be a substituted or unsubstituted aralkyl radical, and the group corresponding to R_2 can be $(CH_2)_n-OH$. The compounds are suitable for the treatment and diagnosis of tumours (see claim 1).

The compounds in claims 1 and 20 have formulae which are represented in Markush format. A selection of several types of compounds, some non-specific, for a radical from lists of possibilities disclosed in D1 cannot be considered novel within the meaning of PCT Article 33(2). Restriction to compounds wherein the radical R_3 contains a (substituted) benzyl radical could be considered novel if at least one polar group were present in the benzyl radical or in R_2 (see the compounds as per claim 11).

Consequently, the subject matter of claims 1 to 10 and 14 to 20 does not comply with the requirements of PCT Article 33(2).

In the compounds as per claim 11, at least either one hydrogen in the benzyl radical is substituted by a polar group or the radical R_2 is defined by a polar group.

A combination of this kind with a benzyl group as a specific radical is not to be found in document D1 and is therefore novel.

For the individual compounds in claims 12 to 13, at least two substituents are selected from two lists of alternatives disclosed for various substituents, for which novelty is acknowledged.

The subject matter of claims 11 to 13 is therefore novel (PCT Article 33(2)).

Inventive step

The problem addressed by the subject matter of claims 11 to 13 can therefore be considered that of providing further urokinase inhibitors for treatment and diagnosis.

The solution to this problem as proposed in claims 11 to 13 of the present application involves an inventive step (PCT Article 33(3)), because the claimed compounds exhibit reduced elimination time together with high activity. A property of this kind is not to be found in the cited prior art and is therefore not obvious for a person skilled in the art.
